Secretary Of Treasury Testifies On Marshall Plan Before Senate Committee

SAYS FINANCING MUST BE SAFEGUARDED

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told Congress today that the European recovery program must be financed without adding to inflationary dangers in the United States and within a balanced budget.

Snyder testified before the Senate Foreign Relations committee he is confident that "so long as we pursue a sound fiscal policy, we shall be able to cover the cost of the program out of current revenues."

'Well-Balanced Figure'
The cabinet member declared that the six billion 800 million dollars asked by President Truman for the first 15 months of the Marshall plan is a well-balanced figure. He said:

"The National Advisory Council has carefully reviewed the procedures which have been used by the inter-departmental committees of experts in arriving at this figure."

"These procedures involved a critical examination of European needs and of availabilities in the United States and in other major supplying areas, and careful estimates of European dollar income and resources."

Must Build Up U. S. Air Force

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Congress was confronted today with a warning from President Truman's Air Policy commission that the nation's "hopelessly wanting" air force must be built up to meet the "serious danger" of an atomic attack "in quantity" by "A-Day," January 1, 1953.

The commission recommended that 12 billion dollars be spent in the next two years to expand American air power to a total of 20,500 planes.

President Truman presented the problem to Congress by issuing an accompanying statement in which he urged the House and Senate and the American people to study the recommendations "with care."

Five To Eight Billion Cut In Truman Budget Urged By Congressman

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Rep. Knutson (R-Minn., chairman of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, urged a cut of five to eight billion dollars in President Truman's new budget today as economy-minded GOP leaders continued to hammer away at the program.

Knutson asked that the six billion 800 million dollars requested by the president to launch the Marshall plan be cut to two billion 800 millions, a reduction of four billion dollars.

At the same time, he suggested that congress allot three billion dollars for reduction of the national debt in the 1949 fiscal year.

Knutson was joined in his budget-cut proposals by House Majority Leader Halleck of Indiana who predicted a major slash in the plan advanced by Mr. Truman to spend thirty-nine billion 700 million dollars in the 1949 fiscal period beginning July 1.

Halleck would not predict what the final figure would be but stated that "I am convinced substantial savings can be made running into several billion dollars."

Knutson said he is in accord (Continued on Page Two)

Hidden Assets Of Europe Are Given Attention

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told Congress today that Marshall Plan agreements should seek to compel European countries to flush out the "hoarding gold" of their people.

The cabinet member, testifying before the Senate foreign relations committee in support of the European recovery plan, said that Europeans should not be "financially untouchable."

But he pointed out that it might be difficult to force disclosure of hidden assets. Snyder cited the failure of the Germans to do this (Continued on Page Two)

Boarding Party To Survey Fire Damage On Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS)—A boarding party is expected to be put on the army transport Joseph V. Connolly today to survey damage caused by the raging fire which forced abandonment of the vessel some 850 miles east of New York.

The fire, which was still smoldering during the night, was expected to have burned out sufficiently to permit the army transport Gen. R. E. Callan, which is at the scene, to place some men aboard.

Meanwhile statements were being taken from the 199 Connolly survivors aboard the Callan as to the cause of the fire which broke out in the Connolly's engine room and quickly raged out of control last Monday morning.

Twenty-seven other Connolly crewmen arrived in Halifax on the freighter Union Victory this morning.

Thousands Attend State Farm Show

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Thousands of city dwellers and their "country cousins" swarmed into Harrisburg today to see what's new "down on the farm" at the 32nd annual Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Attendance was expected to near the 300,000 mark today as spectators from all areas of the state came to look at purebred livestock and poultry, prize crop exhibits and the latest farm machinery and equipment.

Poor weather during the first two days of the five-day exposition held attendance below anticipated figures, according to Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst. But despite bad traveling conditions, an estimated 175,000 persons crowded into the 14-acre building housing the winter exhibition. The indoor fair will close Friday.

Public Relations Man Is 'Mystery' Witness In Probe

Director Of Campaign Of Sen. Thomas Is Called In Food Gambling Inquiry

PAULEY REVEALS HE WILL RESIGN

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senate food gambling investigators were disclosed today to have questioned Marty Hefflin, Washington Public Relations man, in a parade of "mystery" witnesses called into closed-door meetings.

Publicity Man
Hefflin was publicity director in the 1938 senatorial campaign of Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) whose wife, Mrs. Eva Thomas, was revealed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson as a cotton futures trader.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich., chairman of the Senate Subcommittee investigating "government insiders" in the market, declined to disclose the nature of the inquiry into Hefflin's affairs, but said the witness was a speculator.

At the same time, Thomas submitted to the committee a memorandum setting forth his commodity dealings. The senator revealed several days ago that he had speculated for 25 years and announced that he would invite the committee to look at his records.

Pauley To Resign
The Hefflin-Thomas developments were revealed after Edwin W. Pauley recently revealed as a speculator, reaffirmed his intention to resign sometime this month as special assistant to army secretary Royall.

How Much Do I Owe?

Tonight the campaign for funds for the Jameson Memorial Hospital becomes the responsibility of all of us. The advance gifts are in, and the general public will be asked for sufficient money to meet and pass the quota of $750,000 which has been set. The general campaign opens tonight.

Our citizens of more than average means have done a magnificent job. Their unprecedented generosity has brought the total of pledges to slightly under $600,000. The advance givers have fully lived up to their responsibilities.

Now the job is up to the rest of us. How much do I owe? This is the question every citizen should ask himself. What is my share of this humanitarian campaign?

No one has the right to tell you what you should give. No one knows your financial condition and your capacity to share as well as do you. But this can be said to every citizen "you do owe something."

The men at the head of this campaign have suggested a yardstick for the general public's giving. It is this. One hour's pay, per month, for twenty five months. For example, in the case of a man earning $1.50 per hour this would mean a pledge of $37.50. This seems moderate enough.

It may be argued that some men earning $1.50 per hour have family responsibilities that would not permit such a gift. True. But there are others with lesser responsibilities who could well increase this.

In arriving at your own answer won't you remember this? None of us has ever been asked before for any contributions for capital outlay for the Jameson Hospital. The hospital as it is today stands as a monument to the philanthropy of Mr. and Mrs. David Jameson and their daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth McCreery. The hospital, the nurses' home and the second nurses' home, all were given to this city by the Jamesons.

The time is long overdue when the Jameson Memorial Hospital should be enlarged and more modern facilities added. It is a need that affects you and you. If one of your loved ones needs hospitalization they will need it immediately, they will need it desperately.

If an operation is needed you have the right to insist that the equipment and facilities are the finest money can buy.

And you can insist upon just that. You can insist that the Jameson Memorial Hospital be made the finest institution of its kind in Pennsylvania. It just takes money. Your money and the money of your neighbors.

This is the opportunity of all of us to see to it that our future hospital needs are cared for properly. This is your time to have a share in providing those facilities.

How much do I owe?
Only one person can furnish the answer to that question. That person is yourself.
Let your heart answer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—One person was burned to death while another received second and third degree burns early today in a four-alarm fire which forced residents to flee the five-story Potomac hotel in their nightclothes in sub-freezing temperature.

A horribly-burned body was found in a room on the fifth floor of the structure in downtown Washington but identification and sex were not known immediately.

Says Compulsory Controls Required To Halt Inflation

Warns Congress That Controls Must Be Provided Or Depression May Develop

RENEWES PLEA FOR TEN-POINT PROGRAM

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Truman warned Congress today that unless compulsory controls are provided to curb inflation and bring down prices the United States may suffer a severe economic collapse.

In his annual economic report, the chief executive again appealed for his 10-point anti-inflation program and declared that if regulatory measures are not adopted now, inflation may drive production down and cause widespread unemployment.

Mr. Truman said his program with its standby rationing and wage-price controls is "needed badly and needed promptly." He told Congress that a depression would force more drastic measures.

First Objective Of 1948
The president declared that halting the inflationary trend must be the nation's "first objective" for 1948 and added:

"Unless we as a nation show an ability to impose restraints upon ourselves and to utilize the machinery of our representative government to devise well-considered regulatory measures, we stand in great danger that runaway prices, over-extended credit, and unbalanced developments will lead to an economic recession."

"We cannot be sure that such (Continued on Page Two)

Lewis, Operators Approach Impasse On Welfare Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators approached a new impasse today in their efforts to draft a health and welfare program for the miners.

Although a ten cents a ton royalty is being collected for such a fund under terms of the 1947 coal contract, Lewis and the operators have been unable to agree on the details of the program for paying benefits.

The latest session yesterday of the three-man board of trustees of the welfare fund failed to resolve the issue and Ezra Van Horn, operators representative, said no future meeting has been scheduled.

Lewis declined to comment publicly on the situation but he could quickly precipitate a showdown at any moment.

a recession would not be severe and recovery slow and painful." Mr. Truman said there may be a meat shortage next spring and asserted that unless anti-inflationary steps are taken the price of food, especially meat, "will go still higher."

Powers Are Sought He called on Congress for immediate action in approving legislation to put his anti-inflation program into effect, stressing these proposed powers:

1. "Appropriate restraints upon business credit and consumer credit and commodity speculation."
2. "Authority to allocate to their most efficient and necessary uses those scarce commodities and services which enter basically into the cost of living or industrial production."
3. "Extension and strengthening of rent control."
4. "Authority to impose rationing and price control on a highly selective basis on items of outstanding importance to industrial production or to the cost of living so that these powers may be used promptly to protect the public if other measures prove inadequate."

Mr. Truman pointed out that the special session passed only a substitute anti-inflation measure which gave him none of the broad powers he asked.

Renews Demands In renewing his demand today for wide authorities to curb inflation and high prices, the president said:

"Every point in that (ten-point) program is essential. "As we enter the new year the American people are keenly aware that inflation is the dominant problem in our economic affairs."

Mr. Truman told Congress that a "well-designed program of measures" to combat this inflationary trend "will permit us to reach a state of economic stability without an interlude of severe depressions."

The second annual economic report, third and last of Mr. Truman's documents to the beginning of the regular session, runs 136 pages in length. It contains a detailed analysis of the nation's economic situation as it developed during 1947, together with a discussion of a broad program stability for the future.

Mr. Truman made recommendations both for 1948 and for a 10-year program aimed at the creation of a total of sixty-four million jobs.

Three Objectives For 1948, he proposed three objectives. He said:

"The first objective for 1948 must be to halt the inflationary trend. "Our second main objective for 1948 should be to maintain maximum employment, achieve maximum production and adjust the price-income structure so as to stop the inflationary spiral without production cutbacks or extensive unemployment."

"Our third main objective for 1948 should be to establish firmer foundations for the long-range growth and prosperity of our economy in the years ahead."

Geddes declared that the Petrillo ban will injure nearly half a million workers in the industry. He said:

"Complete future suspension of record production would dwarf the manufacturing industry, reduce its employment and its dollar volume by at least between 40 and 50 per cent and cause many failures of small manufacturing and supply concerns, distributors and dealers."

Hartley reported that Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, William Hutcheson, leader of the AFL Carpenters Union, and others, may be called before the group following the investigation of James C. Petrillo who is accused of "monopolistic" labor practices.

The congressman declared that the present hearing on the practices of Petrillo and his American Federation of Musicians will provide the basis for possible legislative action to make unions subject to anti-trust laws.

Zero Tonight In Some Section Is Weather Forecast

Cold weather, with temperatures dipping below the zero mark in some areas, was forecast for today and tonight in western Pennsylvania.

The forecast came as natural gas supplies to industrial plants were cut as much as 85 per cent in the Pittsburgh district to conserve the fuel for domestic use, and as temperatures dipped to as low as 10 degrees at Knapp's Creek, near Kane, the "ice box of Pennsylvania."

Highways throughout the western part of the state were glazed with ice as a result of yesterday's and last night's snow and sleet. Two persons were killed on a Pittsburgh street yesterday when their car was crushed against a post after colliding with a skidding truck.

street, near Winter avenue, on the morning of January 6, and finding the unconscious Miss Robertson in the middle of the street. She was bleeding from the nose and had a bruise on her forehead.

Louis Smith of 137 Garfield avenue told of coming upon the body in the cartway of North Mercer street at approximately 2:15 a. m. January 6, and of rousing neighbors there and summoning the police.

Sister Testifies Mrs. Eris Barberger, sister of Miss Robertson, testified that Martin Fobes had taken her and her sister home from Rex Cafe, where they had met Fobes. She said that Fobes apparently had known her sister before, but that he was a stranger to her. They drove away from the house at 12:25 a. m., stating they were going to a party known as Jim's Place on the East Side, and were then going to the Square Deal to meet Mrs. Genevieve Robertson, Annagrace's mother, who worked there.

She next saw Mr. Fobes in the Rex Cafe the next evening, January 7, at which time he had completely passed out. She said he had scratches on the right side of his face. She testified that Fobes had been drinking the night before, enough that it was evident.

William Weidenhof of R. D. 4, bartender at the Rex Cafe, stated that he had gone to the Square Deal after closing up, and saw Martin Fobes and Annagrace Robertson there. They left about five minutes before 2 o'clock, got in Fobes' truck and drove away. He said that Fobes took her arm and led her to the truck, after asking her several times to leave with him. He said that it was evident that Fobes had been drinking.

Told Of Wreck Joseph F. McKee of 311 Neal street told of meeting Fobes on the evening of January 7 and of asking him about what had happened to Annagrace. McKee stated that Fobes had told him he had been in a wreck at the Harbor at 4:30 a. m., but that everything was on the "up and up." He said Fobes was "pretty well loaded" and appeared to have scratches on the right side of his face.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna told of questioning Fobes on his activities of the evening of January 5 and morning of January 6, and stated that Fobes told him of having had a number of drinks in various places. He said Fobes' mind went blank after he had left the Rex Cafe with the women, and he did not remember what happened afterwards. He said he awoke about 5 o'clock in the morning of January 6 and found himself lying on the living room floor of his home.

The coroner's jury which heard the testimony was composed of David J. Tucker, Philip J. Wimer, Percy White, Russell C. Melvin, C. A. Donges and Bart Richards.

FIVE TO EIGHT BILLION CUT URGED BY CONGRESSMAN

with Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., chairman of the house appropriations committee, who stated that he hoped to cut five billion dollars from the budget. Knutson added:

Not Over 35 Billion "I think we're in about agreement that it should not exceed thirty five billion and I'm not so sure it shouldn't be cut perhaps to thirty two billion dollars."

Knutson announced also that his five and one half billion dollar income tax reduction bill will be approved by his committee next week and taken up in the house Jan. 26 or 27.

Knutson indicated that the president's proposal for $40 tax cut for all persons, to be offset by a three billion 200 million dollar increase in corporation taxes, would be summarily rejected by his group, if considered at all.

To Open Hearings The Minnesota state that two days of public hearings on his tax bill will open Friday, with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder invited as the initial witness. The hearings will close Jan. 19 with the testimony of Secretary of Commerce Harriman and Budget Director Webb.

SNYDER GIVES CONGRESS VIEWS OF FOREIGN AID

the council believes that the amount asked by the President is necessary to achieve the objectives of the program.

Points Made By Snyder Points made by Snyder in his testimony before the Foreign Relations committee included:

1. Assistance to the participating nations should be provided as a combination of grants-in-aid and loans, the former being based on the capacity of the various nations to earn the dollars needed to pay principal and interest.

2. Funds should be allocated to the Export-Import Bank, which would make loans as directed by the administrator for economic cooperation, on terms specified by the administrator in consultation with the National Economic Council.

3. American business enterprises must be given an opportunity to participate in the recovery program by making new investments abroad or by expanding existing facilities.

Facilitate Private Investment 4. To facilitate private investment, the government should guarantee the convertibility into dollars of local currency earned by the investment or available for the repatriation of the original investment.

5. It will be impossible to obtain from the United States all the goods needed for the recovery program. The needed amounts of food, for example, cannot be obtained in the United States, and other countries of the Western Hemisphere therefore must be called upon for such supplies.

6. Adequate measures for monetary stabilization "must be taken promptly and with vigor by the European countries," for recovery is impossible as long as inflation continues and unless production is increased.

7. American receiving aid from the United States shall enter into a separate agreement with the American government, which would cover the terms on which the aid is given.

8. Each participating country should deposit in a special account the local currency equivalent of an agreed rate of exchange to the dollar cost to the American government of the goods supplied through grants-in-aid.

ARAB RAIDERS MAKE ATTACKS

wireless SOS calls from the settlements found the roads barricaded and mined and were fired on by Arab snipers.

The fighting broke out with a two-pronged assault by heavily armed Arabs on the newly established Jewish settlement of Ein Zurim, near Hebron.

The hostilities spread a short time later to the adjacent settlements of Massuth Yitzhak and Kfar Et-Zion when the original attacking force of an estimated 100 Arabs obtained reinforcements.

The Arab assault groups reportedly were in uniform. All of the settlements involved were cut off from communication with the rest of Palestine by earlier Arab sabotage of telephone lines.

In other Holy Land incidents a British resident of Jerusalem and his Jewish wife were slain and an automobile flying the official flag of Iraq's consul general was ambushed.

Around a century ago, after years of discouraging research, Frederick Sertuerner dosed three young dare-devils of Einbeck, as well as himself, with some crystals he had produced from opium. A short time later he announced his new conqueror of pain, which he called Morphine after the God of Dreams, Morpheus.

HIGH COST OF GOVERNMENT

Everybody knows the cost of government, like everything else, has gone up shockingly; but it remained for the Census Bureau to report that payrolls of Federal, State, city and county governments rose in October to a record monthly total of $1,180,600,000.

The cause, surprisingly, was higher wages, not an increase in the number of jobholders, even though 5,808,000 persons were in public employment—about one out of 10 employed workers in the country. Actually, the number of employees was down 193,000 from October, 1946, but the 1947 payroll was $52,500,000 greater.

In his message to Congress President Truman said that since V-J Day the number of civilian employees in the Government "has been cut nearly in half—from 3,750,000 to 2,000,000." He should have added that virtually all those dismissed had been wartime employees and that no really systematic effort had been made to reduce the New Deal's huge Federal Government costs.

There can be no quarrel with cost-of-living pay increases for those in governmental work. They, as well as industrial employees, have to pay the present high prices to keep body and soul together. But if the peacetime cost of government is not to strangle all taxpayers, ways must be found to accomplish savings.

This may mean fewer Government employees. It may mean fewer Government agencies. It may mean a reduction in Government services. But whatever it may mean, it is going to be necessary—unless the American people want to go on building up a topheavy bureaucracy which they simply can't afford.

COMBATING A MENACE

Colorado is engaged in an all-out drive to abolish hitchhiking. Like some other states, Colorado has a law forbidding hitchhiking, but it has never before been enforced. Now the governor has instructed the state highway patrol to break it up.

The immediate reason for this action is a wave of crime in which hitchhikers have been involved. Five murders involving Colorado residents in less than a year and uncounted robberies and car thefts have been charged to hitchhikers.

Ride moochers have become a nuisance everywhere, in addition to the risk drivers take when they pick up the thumbers. Frequently they stand brazenly on the highway, thus creating a traffic hazard, and in most instances inquiry frequently discloses that they are merely youths on the loose, instead of travelers on a legitimate errand.

Colorado is the first state to attack the menace of hitchhiking in a manner that should bring results. Signs are being placed on main highways in every section of the state warning motorists that hitchhiking is unlawful and involves danger to drivers.

Whether this will be followed by a sustained drive to break up the practice, or whether there will be a great to-do for a few weeks, followed by abandonment of the objective remains to be seen. That is the usual pattern. At any rate, law enforcement officials of the other states, which had experiences similar to that of Colorado with hitchhikers, are watching the Colorado crusade with interest.

Perhaps the days of the hitchhiker are numbered.

CURTAIN COMING DOWN

When Loew's State theater in the heart of New York City decided to substitute double feature film shows for its traditional vaudeville, it marked the end of an epoch.

Probably the younger generation would prefer the double features. We are not sure. But, to oldsters, there was something in that fast-disappearing profession, vaudeville, which they regret to see passing.

Vaudeville was typically American—product of a circus man named Franklin Keith. His first show was a "museum," founded in Boston in 1883. His first exhibit was Baby Alice, a midget. Later he showed a stuffed mermaid and a chicken with a face supposedly human. Then he hired a couple young comedians, Weber and Fields, to clown for him. Next came the "continuous performances," with a galaxy of stars which later included George M. Cohan, David Warfield, three of the Barrymores, Mrs. Sidney Drew, Montgomery and Stone, William Faversham, Lenore Ulric, Nazimova and Sarah Bernhardt.

Those were great days and vaudeville at the pinnacle of its success was a tremendous part of our amusement system. One never could imagine it coming to an end.

Various reasons have been advanced for the exit of vaudeville—the movies, the radio and the automobile which took families either to the highways or kept them at home. Vaudeville in its heyday was a neighborhood proposition, interspersed with "amateur nights."

Today the vaudeville houses of America can almost be counted on two hands. It's hard to compete with amusement provided by a few cents worth of gasoline or by the flick of a radio dial.

The earth is to be resurveyed for size. It would not be surprising if it also were found to be out of shape in some places.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

Italy's fervent desire to regain—at least some fragment of her once great African empire was made manifest again today.

And the request placed before the Big Four ministers' deputies in London for an Italian trusteeship over Somaliland promised to create another international furor when it comes up for formal consideration.

Italy previously had demanded a trusteeship over Eritrea. In neither case is she asking or expecting resumption of autocratic rule such as Benito Mussolini imposed upon those little-known territories.

But she feels she long ago earned a permanent place in these faraway regions for development of raw materials and an outlet for overpopulation.

Should Resume Exploitation
The Italian government headed by Premier Alcide De Gasperi maintains that Italy would be less of a drain upon the European recovery plan if she were permitted to resume exploitation in eastern Africa.

Principle opposition can be expected from Soviet Russia. Moscow already has hinted at her own desire for a trusteeship over Libya, a project that is regarded with anything but favor by Britain.

The Russians might be willing to make a trade—Libya for her and the others for Italy—but international agreement on such a basis seems highly improbable.

Italy's claims to Eritrea and Somaliland date far back before both world wars.

She won her rights in these two areas by extensive exploration and expenditure of vast sums. More than one great Italian explorer lost his life at the hands of barbaric Namadic natives.

The intensity with which the Italians pursued this quest is a close parallel to the best in British and French colonial exploration and development.

Given Tremendous Lift
The exploitation was given a tremendous lift by Mussolini. He brought about vast increases in the white population of the regions, built roads and railways and did much to bring cotton, sugar cane, rice and maize in huge quantities from the fertile soil.

It was his success in Eritrea and Somaliland that impelled Mussolini to his mad venture against Ethiopia, an undertaking that most Italians would like nothing better than to forget.

In tribute to his organizing skill, however, it must be said that the Italian army had great and willing support from Eritrean and Somali tribesmen in his onslaught against Addis Ababa.

These areas are far removed from the United States. But the contraction of the world in modern times was clearly shown when the port of Massawa in Eritrea became one of the greatest military depots for the American campaign in North Africa.

And by a quirk of coincidence, the local tribal dignitaries for centuries have worn ceremonial robes that bear familiar colors—red, white and blue.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN PARENTS CAN'T AFFORD 'BABY SITTER'

Young parents may have the problem of finding ways of enjoying recreation together. Many couples can't afford a baby sitter. Therefore, one or both of them must stay home nights, though going out together for recreation might be much desired by them.

It's one of the greatest problems we face in our recreation programs for adults," said Dr. Allen Reisdorf, director of recreation for the public schools of Pittsburgh.

So he spoke at the annual conference of the Council on Family Relations in New York City some while ago. Dr. Homer Rainey was leading a forum on youth problems. He is president of Stephens college, formerly president of the University of Texas.

Voluntary Service
One person in the group suggested that organizations, like the Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls, might well come to the rescue of fuming voluntary service as baby sitters and thereby further some of the ideals of these organizations. Another in the group objected, holding that these girls are too young to take over such responsibilities. But Girl Reserves and other groups of their age certainly could.

Mrs. Rainey and some others present reported volunteer groups among college students serving as baby sitters. Then Dr. Rainey interposed that the moral and spiritual values to such volunteers should prove to be large.

There was one report from a church with a group of women who volunteered to keep babies and children for young parents who lacked funds to hire a baby sitter. Moreover, a few churches were reported to have a nursery in the church building during church services, so the young parent couples might attend services.

It would be a most unusual expression of applied religion if in nearly every church there were a group of women whose children had nearly grown, or who had no children themselves, who would give without pay, an evening a week taking care of youngsters of young parents so these parents might spend the evening out together, whether these parents were members of the church or not, assuming, of course, that the young couple could not afford to pay for a baby sitter.

In any parish, moreover, such volunteers might wish to give their services as baby sitters in the home at a church period, occasionally. Besides, see what powerful missionaries each volunteer might prove to be for her own faith and religion in general. Too, the richest spiritual values should redound to the volunteers themselves. Incidentally, the plan might, by giving idle women something worthwhile to do, keep some of them from becoming mentally sick—good mental, moral, spiritual hygiene.

Ice skating is much easier on smooth skates. Your car will also skid much easier on icy and snowy roads with smooth tires. Smooth tires are hazardous even on wet pavements, but they are much worse when the road is covered with snow and ice. If you are unable to replace your worn tires with new ones they should at least be retreaded. A wise choice of speed on icy roads will also help eliminate a lot of unnecessary accidents.

It's too bad when the final chapter of a driver's career is written by a finger of whisky—Southwest Courier.

The visitor looked quite indignant, and said to himself (according to the balloon): "Uh-er—but it doesn't say WHAT I'm to think about! Weather? Politics? Russia? Cost of living?"

I wonder how many of us really THINK.
When you look at the shape the world is in, it seems that there is very little real thinking going on. Don't imagine that just sitting, staring into space and thinking is really thinking.

What is thinking?
Let me give you a little idea of what thinking really means—because you will need to do a whole lot of it during the coming months.

One of my favorite dictionary definitions of the word is "to reflect for the purpose of reaching a conclusion."

The trouble with most conclusions, however, is that they are formed without thinking. Thinking has made America what it is today.

Lack of thinking can unmake it tomorrow.

"But what can my little thoughts contribute to the weal or the woe of the world?" you may ask.

This is a democracy, dear friend, and your own thoughts multiplied by the many millions of others will preserve or advance, or retard and destroy, this democracy.

It is your thoughts expressed in your vote that create our government.

It is your thoughts expressed in your communication to him that will make your congressman and your senator toe the mark.

High taxes and high prices are caused by your lack of thinking, multiplied again by the lack of thinking of millions of others.

Our foreign policy is shaped not by the State Department but by you.

If there is to be another war it will come because you have failed to think properly and to put your thoughts into action.

You are the master of your fate, as the poet said, but you must first be the captain of your soul—and of your thoughts.

Do you want peace and happiness? Then THINK and ACT according to your thoughts!

Trend Cause Of Concern

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. — In naming an air force general to be head of the Civil Aeronautics board, President Truman pointed out a trend that has caused many thoughtful Americans to be deeply concerned. It is the tendency to put men in uniform in policy-making civilian offices.

Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Muter may very well have more technical knowledge than any civilian who could have been found to take the CAB job. Yet the fact that he is a military man, a graduate of West Point, with the military point of view, in the opinion of many, disqualified him for a post in which the decisions relate largely to peacetime living.

Can't Get Good Men
From his first days in the White House the President's repeated plaint has been that he could not get good men to accept high Federal office. In season and out, privately and publicly, he tells about getting this man or that man on the telephone to plead the urgency of Federal service. And nine times out of ten, as the President reports it, the answer is no.

This is the justification for drafting military men accustomed to taking orders. That justification does not hold for the CAB job. The capable civilian, James M. Landis, would have accepted reappointment to the chairmanship. The President let Mr. Landis go, following reports of pressure brought by the air lines.

Until the appointment of General Kuter, that control of the military was most conspicuous in the field of foreign policy. Our ambassador to the Soviet Union is a general, our ambassador to Belgium an admiral. Occupation policy in Germany is fixed by the military—because the State department failed to take responsibility it should be added.

Diplomatic Mission
Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer was entrusted with an important diplomatic mission to China. Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the President, is widely recognized as exerting a powerful influence on foreign policy decisions.

The outstanding example is, of course, Secretary of State George C. Marshall. General Marshall was drafted by the President first for a mission to China and then for the key position of secretary of state.

That position he has won enormous respect and popularity. This is shown in many ways both in the capital and throughout the country. While Congress received the President with icy indifference when he delivered his State of the Union message, Marshall, on entering the House chamber, was given an enthusiastic ovation by both Republicans and Democrats.

Nevertheless, observers both within and without the department feel that Marshall is handicapped as secretary by his military background and conditioning. These critics believe that it imposes on him a serious limitation.

Respect For Command
Any man who travels up the

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

The news that a balcony on the White House would make our $20 bills obsolete has been received with quiet calm . . . many thought that anything under $50 was obsolete now.

But the $20 bill has a picture of the White House on it and a balcony would mean issuing fresh money . . . still it has gone a little stale anyway.

The last $20 bill I had, the White House still was under construction . . . if you look carefully you can see a little group of men digging a tunnel into the basement from the Republican club.

I wouldn't want to say that the man up front was Tom Dewey but if you run your finger over the face on the bill it tickles just like a mustache.

Anyway the national budget for 1948 is in now . . . we can all go back to work until 2048 to raise it.

Democrats seem to feel that Mr. Truman could have asked for a lot more . . . without getting it either.

But the president is busy with his balcony . . . the orchestra is already sold out for his daughter's next concert.

Envisions U. S. Wonderland

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14.—Some fiend, I guess, slipped an opium pill into my coffee cup just before I went to the press gallery to hear Mr. Truman's address on the state of the union.

Visions of sugar plums danced in my head as I listened to Santa Claus—I mean, the President, promise me a $200 tax cut (four dependents), but that was as nothing compared with the Wonderland which Mr. Roosevelt—I mean, Mr. Truman, envisioned in the immediate future. He asked: "How far have we gone in the last ten years and how far can we go in the next ten?" And then he answered his own question. Here goes:

It's 1958 and Mr. Truman (well, F. D. R. did it, didn't he?) is now serving a fourth term in a land where all of us "are protected against the loss of income which can come from unemployment, old age or the death of wage earners." True, no way has been found to abolish death, but there are no doctors' and hospital bills because "this great nation cannot afford to allow its citizens to suffer needlessly from the lack of proper medical care." Nobody struggles to get an education any more because "the federal government has a responsibility for providing" one. You no longer hear of young couples, like the Trumans of Missouri, skimping and saving to buy a home. "Within the next decade we must see that every American has a decent home." At the top of the heap are 14 million veterans of World War II whom government aid and paternalism have somehow transformed into "self-reliant and self-supporting citizens" with the good sense to vote the Democratic ticket.

Strain On Treasury?
You might think that all this outlay would put a strain on the national treasury, but no, indeed. There is still money left over to "expand our reclamation program, protect and restore our forests, erect multi-purpose dams, bring the benefits of electricity to all our farm population, protect the farmer against the special hazards" of price dips and weather.

But the laboring man has no cause to be jealous of the student, the veteran and the farmer. Wonderland is a place where "the welfare of industry and agriculture depends on high incomes for our workers." Wages have risen steadily by 1958 under "our sound system of collective bargaining"—a system in which Management is outnumbered 2 to 1 by Labor and Government. Although 1947 was a year of full employment and inflated values, there was no setback along the road to Wonderland because we were able to "increase our annual output by at least a third, lift our standard of living by nearly double."

Permanent O. P. A?
How? Well, it just happened, that's all. Nobody worked harder or did without anything. A few economic royalists muttered to Senator Taft that we were going socialist, but they were men who wanted to "misuse (resources) for selfish gain" or to get rich "by the concentration of economic power and other elements of monopoly." To curb these rascals and to hasten the More Abundant Life, a soak-the-corporations tax program was instituted. Then, with extra taxes, extra wages, extra prices on farm products and raw materials, businessmen were asked to invest "at least $50 million dollars to improve and expand our productive facilities." Any inflation? Oh, no. You see, we were operating under a permanent OPA as outlined by the President in the Special Session of 1947.

New Deal Economizing
Of course the government was economizing, the way it always has under the New Deal. The government wasn't spending a dime above running expenses except billions for the Marshall plan, billions for internal improvements, billions on power politics. Don't ask where all the money's coming from. The statesmen of Wonderland are too busy to be bothered about such mundane affairs, especially in an election year. In my opium-drugged mind I saw the Wonderland statesmen working out their problems to the tune of Rudyard Kipling's monkey-folk ditty:

"Here we sit in a branchy row.
Thinking of beautiful things we know:
Dreaming of deeds that we mean to do.
All complete, in a minute or two—
Something noble and grand and good.
Won by merely thinking we could.
Now we're going to—never mind.
Brother, thy tail hangs down behind."

"SOME FINE DAY"

This the mother used to say:
"I'll go traveling some fine day.
Some fine day I'll sew no more.
Cease to dust and sweep the floor;
Get myself those pretty things,
Diamond brooch and brilliant rings;
Sit and dream the hours away.
Not right now, but some fine day."

"Some fine day!" and there we were.
Taking all our needs to her.
"Go away a week or two to her."
Answer: "What would father do?
You know very well that he Looks for every care to me.
There are visits I will pay—
Not just now, but some fine day!"

"Some fine day" that never came.
Year by year the cause the same.
Always putting pleasure by.
Care we needed to supply.
Now, too late, and she has gone.
Trusting us to carry on.
But recalling what she'd say:
"We'll go to her, 'some fine day!'"

WASHINGTON—GOP Economy Chief Taber eagerly anticipating slashing President Truman's budget: "I wouldn't be satisfied with anything less than four billion dollars . . . five billion would be sweeter."

WASHINGTON—A Republican senator defending the hush-hush Marshall plan of GOP senators in a private home: "It was purely educational . . . nothing clandestine . . . we want to see if we can't renege the plan so there won't be too heavy a drain on our economy."

A GREAT UNIVERSITY HEAD

A strong man, a great educator, and a true patriot passes with the departure from the nation scene of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, forty-four years president of Columbia University. Although totally blind for more than a year past, Dr. Butler to the last retained his notable fighting qualities and unequivocally voiced his opinions on public affairs.

Nicholas Murray Butler was among the first of our university heads who believed that education was more than merely pedagogic—it involved active interest and participation in policies of government and diplomacy. The opinions he advanced often projected controversy, as he was more aggressive than diplomatic in his expressions. Frequently he found himself involved in arguments with national leaders of his time. The extent of his fame is reflected in the fact that he was the recipient of decorations from fifteen foreign nations and of honorary degrees from thirty-eight universities.

A university presidency is no longer an assignment to obscurity thanks largely to the vital personality of men like Nicholas Murray Butler. He was always respected, whether one agreed or disagreed with him.

It is not the usual procedure to choose as bridesmaid a young matron and then have an unmarried woman as the maid of honor. However, this rule may be broken when the maid of honor is the bride's sister.

Be Prepared To Prevent FiresFire Chief Thomas Urges Local Residents To Eliminate Hazards In Homes*FIRE LOSS LAST YEAR APPALLING

When it comes to fire prevention and fire protection, "Don't be too late in '48," Fire Chief James E. Thomas warned local residents this week, citing the record national fire loss of more than 700 million dollars last year.

Chief James E. Thomas said reports from the Fire Protection Institute indicated that nearly 90 per cent of last year's 800,000 fires could have been prevented or controlled with minor damage.

"Fire losses here can be kept to a minimum in 1948 if home owners and businessmen will keep two 'common sense principles' in mind, the fire fighting executive declared:

"1. Do your best to prevent fire by cleaning out rubbish, checking all electrical installations and chimneys and by using extreme care in handling matches and cigarettes.

"2. Be prepared for fire by installing and knowing how to use modern, approved fire extinguishers and other emergency fire fighting equipment."

Procrastination is the "villain" responsible for an appalling number of fire disasters, Chief Thomas asserted. "It's deceptively easy to put off fire prevention measures. And we too seldom appreciate the need for such items as fire extinguishers until fire breaks out. Procrastination cannot only be costly, it can be fatal. Where safeguarding our homes and businesses is concerned, 'Don't be too late in '48' is a good motto for all of us."

EMMA, I THINK YOU'VE GOT THAT NEW LOOK.

THE FIRST COMPLIMENT YOU'VE PAID ME IN YEARS

AND I BROUGHT IT HOME TO READ MYSELF.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.—(INS)—

The hardest working man in Hollywood for these two months is dancing Dan Dally, and he isn't getting paid a dime for it.

Dan is off salary at 20th Century-Fox but he's rehearsing every day for "Burlesque," which he'll start with Betty Grable March 1.

Dan explained:

"You know an actor gets paid only 40 weeks of the year and it just happens that my lay-off comes at a time when I have a picture coming up.

Should Learn Fundamentals

"You can't properly work out dance routines for a picture in a couple of weeks."

Dan knows from experience in his previous films, "Mother Wore

Tights" and "You Were Meant

For Me."

When I ran into Dan at the rehearsal hall he was busy creating general routine with Les Clark, who was pretending he was La

Bette Grable.

Both of them had something to say about the present-day crop of dancers:

"They don't learn the funda-mentals properly and it shows in their dancing."

Ben New Star

Hollywood's newest movie star is a stunt man, Ben Johnson, a native of Pawhuska, Okla. He is the first stunt man ever to get a starring role.

A former rodeo performer, he first came to Hollywood as a wrangler with horses for "The Outlaw."

He recently came to the attention of Director John Ford, who regards him as the most magnificent horseman he's ever seen and John knows a thing or two about horsemen.

Now he's playing the lead in

"Mr. Joseph Young of Africa" for Argosy pictures.

Ben is 29, six feet, two inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. He is polite, graceful and on the shy side. He thinks he'll do all right as an actor if they let him play

Ben Johnson.

Now he's got a stunt man to do his stunts.

Linda Is 24

Linda Darnell, now playing in

"The Walls of Jericho," was talking the other day about age.

"I just suddenly realized that

I'm 24," she said. "When I came to Hollywood I was only 16. How those eight years have flown. In another eight years I'll be 32. Good heavens, I don't even like to think of it."

Linda remarked how Ronald

Colman and Walter Pidgeon have lost none of their fascination with the passing of the years.

RFC Accused Of

Not Maintaining

Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—

The Reconstruction Finance

Corp. was accused Tuesday of failing to maintain controls over rents due on defense plants costing the federal government seven billion dollars.

The charge was made by Theodore Herz, assistant corporation audit division chief of the general accounting office, who testified before a House Executive Expenditures Subcommittee.

The group, after a month's reccess, resumed its probe of allegations that RFC wasted 10 billion dollars in government funds through mismanagement of wartime projects.

Herz said the RFC "did not know how much rentals the properties should have produced in any given period" nor "how much rentals were owed but unpaid by lessees at any date."

TWO MILLION MARRIAGES

NEW YORK, N. Y.—There were about 2,000,000 marriages in the United States in 1947, a total only to the all-time peak of about 2,285,000 marriages in 1946, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The high postwar marriage rates reflect not only the return of millions of young men to civilian life but also the prevailing high level of employment and general prosperity," the statisticians

note.

Way To Better Living

CLUB PLANS TO PRESENT PLAY

New Castle Lions club members heard the Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, in an inspirational address at their weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton Tuesday noon, when he spoke from the subject, "Double Your Money Back".

The club completed plans for the presentation of the stage play, "Ahasy Heart," featuring Freddie Bartholomew, which will be presented in The Cathedral Tuesday evening, January 27.

Rev. Jones, in his talk stated that there is a desire in the hearts of most everyone to get as big a return on an investment as possible, regardless of the kind of investment.

This desire is at the root of all the wild speculation which is going on in the world at the present time, and stated that we are fast becoming a gambling nation.

The proposition that one should get double his money back is not only economically unsound, but also unethical.

However, he pointed out, there is an area in which the desire to secure double one's money back is ethical, and that is in the realm of religion and righteous living.

In this, one can invest his time, his strength, his intelligence, his influence, and his experience, he stated. In this, he can be sure of a rich return, manifested by inner satisfaction and peace of mind.

Membership certificates were presented to Tom Nixon, W. Roscoe Clements, W. S. Smit, and Charles L. Goodman.

Special guests included: Henry Velez, of New York City; Rev. Ralph E. Hovencamp, and James E. Bush.

State Universities Awarded Fellowships By DuPont Company

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 14.—(INS)—Four Pennsylvania Universities have been awarded post-graduate and post-doctoral fellowships by the Du Pont Company for the 1948-49 academic year.

The annual awards, totaling 81 to universities throughout the nation this year, are designed to encourage young men and women to undertake advanced study in the sciences.

A new post-graduate fellowship in metallurgy has been awarded to Lehigh University and one in chemistry to Carnegie Institute of Technology. Other fellowships go to the University of Pennsylvania and Penn State, and the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland.

Sir James de Audley (c. 1316-69) was an English knight who served in the retinue of Edward III and the Black Prince. He was one of the original knight-companions of the Order of the Garter, instituted by Edward III.

The city of Baton Rouge was one of the earliest French settlements in Louisiana. At the beginning of the Revolution it was strongly garrisoned by the English, but in September, 1779, was taken by a large Spanish force.

New Process For Extracting Shale Oil Is Revealed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Victor Hodge, Navy petroleum engineer in Philadelphia, revealed today that he has developed and patented a process capable of extracting oil from shale at a cost far less than dollars a barrel.

Hodge explained that under the older "batch" methods of extraction, shale was placed in a retort where distillation was effected by heat and hot gases passing through the material. When the operation was over, he continued, the retort was cooled, the shale removed and a new load placed in the retort.

New Process
"Under my patent, the process is a continuing operation requiring 30,000 megacycles of electrical energy for production," Hodge said.

"The shale moves slowly through a retort on a continuous belt composed of electrodes, passing beneath stationary electrodes. The shale is gradually decomposed and the spent shale flows out the rear of the retort, allowing a continuous fresh feed from the front."

He said he had given domestic rights to the process to the U. S. government and retained the foreign rights himself. The process has not been used in this country as yet, Hodge explained, because electrical energy is not yet available in the nation's largest shale fields in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

He said he is now working with authorities from Brazil for the removal of oil from shale fields there, where 190 million horsepower of electrical energy is available at the fields.

Navy Revises Ruling On Teeth

Chief Machinist's Mate S. E. Bond of the New Castle Navy Recruiting Station announced today that effective immediately the condition of an applicant's teeth is no longer disqualifying. The only requirement in this respect is that the applicant have a pair of healthy jaws, covered by gums not grossly infected.

Malocclusion, lack of occlusion, overbite, underbite, incision, lack of incision is to be totally disregarded in considering an applicant's fitness.

Chief Bond added that prior to this directive about 90% of Navy recruits had been dental deficiencies.

The hares of the plains are guarded from their enemies by their invisibility when crouched in their "forms"; by their sense of sight and smell; and by the remarkable acuteness of their hearing, for the augmentation of which the great ears have been developed.

Enforcement Agents Crack Down On 1144 In State For 1947

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Enforcement agents cracked down on 1,144 establishments in 1947 for violations of the liquor code, it was reported today by the State Liquor Control Board.

Citations for infractions of liquor laws were 138 higher than during 1946 and resulted in 83 license revocations and 811 suspensions, the LCB said. Disposition of 249 cases is pending.

Nearly Double
Revocations in 1947 were nearly double those of the preceding year when 44 permits were lifted while suspensions increased only 10 from 821 in 1946, according to the board.

In the 10 years it has had authority to penalize liquor and beer establishments, the LCB has revoked 1,070 licenses and suspended 8,447 others for periods ranging up to 90 days.

Included in revocations during 1947 were 29 clubs, eight hotels, 43 restaurants and three wholesale distributors. Suspensions included 223 clubs; 65 hotels; 485 restaurants and 38 wholesalers.

Stamp Speculation Nation's Newest 'Gambling' Craze

Post Office Department Official Makes Revelation On New Craze

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)

A Post Office Department official declared today that stamp speculation has become the nation's newest "gambling" craze.

James Bell, head of the department's Philatelic Agency for stamp collectors, reported that the business of investing in commemorative postage stamps has reached an all-time high.

Bell released figures showing that stamp sales of his agency reached a new peak in 1947 of more than three and one-half million dollars, commenting:

"A large part of this figure is accounted for by sales to 'accumulators'—the polite name applied to speculators by those who collect stamps merely for the pleasure and hobby."

Established in 1922, Bell's Philatelic Agency, located in Washington, was established in 1922 as a special service to stamp collectors, providing them with every stamp available in unlimited quantities.

Revenues of the agency do not include first-day sales at post offices where new issues are first offered to the public nor revenue derived later from the sale of stamps to philatelists at local post offices.

These figures were not immediately available but Bell said that revenues from these sources coupled with the agency's receipts "must figure close to seven million dollars for 1947."

As an example of the profits possible Bell cited present premium prices on a series of stamps issued in 1943 bearing flags of the Allied countries. There were 13 stamps in the series.

Philately experts say the stamps, which originally sold for five cents each, $2.50 for sheet of fifty stamps and $32.50 for a complete set of 13 sheets, are bringing $50 and more a set today. Bell said that this incident alone has attracted hundreds of additional collectors and "accumulators."

Kiwanis Club Will Sponsor Annual Drive At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 14.—Kiwanians will serve as sponsors here for the annual March of Dimes drive for combating infantile paralysis as a result of action taken at Monday night's meeting.

The action followed after a talk by William R. Hanna, of New Castle, county chairman. The quota for New Wilmington was fixed at $800, an increase of $200 over the quota of last year.

Rev. Robert Kelly, a member of the Westminster college faculty, outlined objectives for 1948. He said that the club's objectives should develop out of the needs of the community.

William Hartwell, retiring president, received a past president's key. Griff Williams, newly named president, made the presentation.

Paul Thornhill of Ellwood City, a Westminster student, was introduced as a new assistant scout leader. He will aid Lyman Ringbloom and Fred Rowland in the work of the troop sponsored by the club.

Frank Peters was a guest.

Marine Campaign Progressing Well

Many Are Joining Reserve Campaign: Open To Young Men 17 To 32

Considerable success is attending the efforts of the Marine Corps league in New Castle and Ellwood City to enlist young men for the Volunteer Marine Reserve, it was said today.

This week is Marine Week and a concerted effort is being made to form a reserve unit of some size here. Many former Marines have signed up, and with them many young men between 17 and 32 who either have served in other branches of the armed forces or have never been in service.

Joining the Marine Volunteer Reserve does not mean compulsory attendance at a training camp every year. It is merely an attempt to build back a log of men who have the interests of their country at heart and who are willing to aid should there be any necessity.

Mexico is about one-fourth the size of the United States.

Californians Hunt Buried Gold Coins

MONTEREY, Calif., Jan. 14.—(NS)—Hundreds of men, women and children are "prospecting" with shovels, rakes, trowels, knives, forks and even old mining tools today in a gold rush that is sweeping Monterey.

The "bonanza" is located in a 100x100 foot school excavation site only two blocks from the main street of this historic California city.

It's not nuggets the "prospectors" are after, but $20 gold coins. Already more than 125 of the coins have been dug up by the treasure-seekers. Their nominal value is over $2,500, but they are worth considerably more because the coins are collectors' items.

Raised In Value

One of the $20 pieces, dated 1899, has a catalog value of $60. Most of the coins thus far discovered were minted between 1890 and 1900 and nearly all are in excellent condition.

The coins were buried in the lot nearly a half century ago by William Martin, wealthy Monterey property owner, who died in 1913.

The modern-day gold rush began after the first coin of the cache was found Saturday by Damon Burgess, employee of a construction company excavating the site for a new music school building. The word got around town swiftly and early Sunday morning the rush was on. One of the first to reach the scene was a man with a bulldozer which immediately claved 15 of the coins out of the earth.

Nephew Helps Out

The late Martin's nephew, Carmel Martin, former Monterey mayor, bought out a hardware store in order to provide digging tools for the amateur prospectors. He presided over the treasure hunt, rendering advice as well as material aid to the gold seekers who toiled far into the night, digging and searching.

Carmel Martin advised a Japanese woman who stopped merely to chat with him to join the hunt. She walked five feet onto the site and found a gold coin.

He said his late uncle distrusted banks and, on his death bed, confided to Carmel he had buried considerable fortune in gold coins on the property. But at that time the old man was too weak to tell the exact location of the cache.

Uncover $1,500

His heirs subsequently made some explorations, but never found any of the treasure until two years ago when $1,500 in gold was discovered just before the old Martin homestead was sold.

Carmel, a lawyer, said he had inserted in the deeds of sale a clause reserving to the Martin estate all buried treasure found on the property which presently is owned by the Monterey school department.

Martin said he and his cousin, James Martin, have no intention of claiming the coins thus far taken out by the treasure hunters. He added:

"I've never had so much fun in my life."

It is estimated that rats do an average of $63,000,000 damage on U. S. farms every year.

Police Chiefs To Fight Stories Of Crime On 'Air'

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Pennsylvania police chiefs plan to fight crime stories on the air.

Through their state organization, they will conduct competing radio shows aimed at driving off the ubiquitous thrillers that virtually monopolize the airwaves.

Capt. Samuel Siegle, director of the Pennsylvania Association of Police Chiefs, said the first of the programs, which will be tailored to local interests, may begin this month in Philadelphia.

The broadcasts will be educational, featuring interviews and discussions on cause and prevention of crime by local sleuths and criminologists, according to Siegle.

He denounced as a "detriment to children" the type of radio play, punctuated with shriek and shot, that produced tense, jangled nerves and possibly arouses a morbid interest in crime.

"We're going to fight such shows and magazines devoted to the same subjects in our show," Siegle said.

Speculation In War Bonds Will Now Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—The senate war investigating committee has launched an all-out investigation of government war bond speculation by asking the federal reserve system for information on all persons who subscribed for bonds in amounts of $500,000 or more.

The inquiry, it was learned today, is a follow-up on the committee's own disclosure that former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers bought and sold government bonds on margin while in uniform. Meyers is now awaiting trial in Washington on a perjury indictment which grew out of the senate inquiry into his aviation procurement dealings.

Republican leaders said it is contemplated that the investigating subcommittee under Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) will begin the task and carry it through when the war investigating group becomes a subcommittee of the executive expenditures committee next month.

BEAVER SCHOOL WILL HAVE NEW ADDITION

BEAVER, Jan. 14.—A three room addition has been proposed by the Beaver board of education to the Fort McIntosh grade school building. Bids for the addition will be opened February 9.

Decision for the adding of the rooms to the building came following a meeting of the board Monday evening. Architect for the work has been A. L. Martzoff.

Driverometer To Be Installed Here

Tests Of Drivers Planned By Use Of Unique Device At Power Company Building

Plans are under way for the installation of a Driverometer in the Pennsylvania Power company display room through the cooperation of McBride & Shannon, the power company, and the New Castle News.

It is a new and unique device for "road testing" drivers in emergency situations without endangering life and limb. The device was developed as a loss prevention service by the public education department of the Aetna Life Affiliated Companies of Hartford, Conn. It is equipped with steering wheel, accelerator and brake pedals. Mounted inside the machine itself is a motion picture projector. The "windshield" consists of a motion picture screen. The "driver" is seated before the screen and he presses the accelerator starting projection of the motion picture.

Upon the screen are shown a number of different driving situations which end in an emergency. At the precise moment when the situation becomes dangerous, a timing device inside the Driverometer is set off and continues to operate until the "driver" steps on the brake.

It tests drivers on a number of safety factors, for instance:

Speed with which they react to danger; ability to distinguish colors; acuteness of hearing; ability to estimate the speeds of other cars and amount of attention they pay to the road ahead.

Tests, which are free, will be given January 19-24 inclusive, according to plans of the sponsors.

BARON'S 'D' DAY

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16th

We here at Baron's, like you, are "up to our ears" with high prices.

During the year 1947, thanks to your ever-increasing patronage, we were able in our own small way to really kick that Kid High Prices around. Remember those two-dollar 20-gallon garbage cans? Those $36.50 bicycles? That $1.18 full size enamel roaster? The way you emptied our shelves on those and many of our other specials, we know you liked 'em. Of course, we can't give everything away—if we did we wouldn't be able to stay around long.

With 1948 on us, prices are on the up-jump again. We are going to hold our ground. We are going to lead with our Sunday punch on Friday morning, Jan. 16. Don't miss our DEFLATION DAYS SALE.

Judge Lamoree
Gives 2 Opinions

Passes Upon Two Cases In Litigation In Lawrence
County Courts

OTHER EVENTS
IN COURT HOUSE

Two opinions were handed down by Judge John G. Lamoree Tuesday. The first is that in the case of Stephen Hudak versus John and Anna Hudak and concerns a judgment note. In January, 1928, John Hudak gave a judgment note for $700 to Stephen Hudak to secure a loan. Later the two men went into partnership in the grocery business in Youngstown, but after a short time Stephen Hudak withdrew from the partnership.

In July, 1930, the defendant went through bankruptcy and the plaintiff was not listed as a creditor. He now claims the bankruptcy proceeding discharged his obligation and also that the statute of limitations has run.

Judge Lamoree ruled that the judgment should be opened and a defense presented.

The second opinion was in the case of Charles and Jennie Joseph versus Marion Rotunno and Anna Rotunno. The plaintiff filed a complaint in ejectment, to which a demurrer was filed. The case was once tried, with the plaintiff and defendant reversed, and a verdict favoring the defendant given. In this case the defendant asks for judgment and his petition is dismissed.

STATE REGISTRATION
Figures just released by the state elections bureau in Harrisburg show some interesting totals and some interesting comparisons. Out of a total population of approximately 10,000,000 in this state, there are 4,550,941 citizens registered to vote. Those registrations are from 8,258 precincts.

Of the total of 4,550,941 registrations, 2,724,231 are Republican, 1,770,998 are Democratic, 46,197 are registered as Nonpartisan and other scattered registrations total 9,545.

Philadelphia has the heaviest registration in the state, a total of 1,003,464 or nearly one fourth of the state. Of this total 693,535 are Republican, 289,277 are Democratic, 20,229 nonpartisan and 423 scattered. There are 1353 precincts in Philadelphia.

Allegheny county has 737,719 registrations in 1039 precincts of which 317,447 are Republicans and 416,537 Democratic, 1978 nonpartisan and 1757 others.

Two counties are almost tied for the lowest registration. Cameron county has 3325 registrations and Sullivan 3415.

Lawrence county is shown to have 39,559 registrations. On the basis of state population and registration, Lawrence county is below average in registration. This county has about 100,000 population, or about one hundredth of the population. Upon this basis there should be about 45,000 registrations here.

1,186 DOGS LICENSED
The score in the dog license department is beginning to creep up. At noon Tuesday 1,186 dogs had been licensed, which is about 10 per cent of the dogs in the county.

National Guard
Given Permission
For State Staff

New Staff Will Serve As Nucleus
Of Selective Service System
In Case Of Emergency

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania National Guard today received the green light from the federal government to organize a state staff that would form the nucleus of a selective service system in case of national conscription.

Adjutant General Frank A. Weber said the unit, designated as headquarters and headquarters detachment, will be composed of 57 officers and 90 enlisted men. He will direct organization of the staff which must receive federal approval by March 4.

Under new army policy, the PNG state staff will perform two functions, administration of selective service and National Guard.

The selective service branch will have a peak strength of 27 officers and 44 enlisted men, Weber reported, while the guard administration unit will embrace 30 officers and 46 men.

The selective service unit will plan and administer reopening of a selective draft system in event of congressional approval of a universal military training program or a national emergency, according to Weber.

He said trained former selective service personnel will establish the component which will have access to selective service records of World War II.

Commodity Markets
Hearing Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Sen. Elmer Thomas (D) Okla., Tuesday asked the Senate Agriculture Committee to open hearings immediately to determine whether commodity markets are "useful" or "harmful and immoral."

Thomas, who disclosed last week that he has traded in commodities for 25 years, declared that if the markets are "useful" the "public should be told" so that what he described as an "erroneous impression" can be corrected.

In a letter to Sen. Capper (R) Kans., committee chairman, Thomas asked that the purpose of the market be studied by the agriculture committee to "offset" the effect of the Senate investigation of commodity speculation. Thomas said he told Capper:

"If the exchanges serve a good purpose, as I am sure they do, we want the public to know."

"If they are harmful and immoral, they should be closed," Thomas said.

A cone fish is so called from its shape, which is small and somewhat globular. It lives on the coasts of China, Japan and the Philippines. The Japanese call it "matsukani" or pine-cone fish. It is about five inches long and is covered with large scales that resemble a coat of mail carelessly put together.

V.A. Gets Deluge
Of G.I. Letters

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—(INS)—If you're an ex-G.I. who has sent a letter to the Veterans Administration and hasn't received an answer, it's probably your fault.

V.A. Central and Regional offices get more than 11,000,000 pieces of mail a month. About 20 per cent, the V.A. said, require research before an answer can be made.

Most delays in answering veterans queries are caused by the veteran's failure to identify himself properly, the V.A. said.

The V.A. advises ex-G.I.'s to include their claim, insurance or service serial numbers to get prompt service.

Seventeen crates of storks were among the live cargo flown by Trans World Airlines which observes the first anniversary of its International Air Express and Air Cargo service this month.

Turkey eggs were shipped from Kansas City to Egypt's only turkey farm at Cairo, and 100,000 rainbow trout eggs were flown to Palestine to stock the River Jordan.

Other live cargo included an assortment of vultures, lizards, snakes and eight apes.

Uniform Traffic Lights In State, Long Way Off

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Installation of uniform traffic lights in the interest of safety appears today to be a long way off, although the requirement was legislated in 1937.

Replacement of overhead stop lights with corner post signals is required under a law effective in Pennsylvania January 1, 1948, after several postponements.

But individual compliance extensions, also authorized by law, have been granted approximately 100 communities by the state highways department. Similar postponement requests are expected to be received from many of the estimated 1500 local governments with overhead lights.

Traffic Engineer Haydn W. Evans said a number of complaints against the mandated switch have been received from communities protesting new expenditures.

Replacement costs have been estimated at from $250 to $1000 an intersection depending on the number of standards used. Some medium sized towns have up to 100 intersection signals.

May Abolish Act

He predicted resentment might increase to such an extent that the legislature may be asked to abolish the act during the 1949 session.

Only an estimated 100 municipalities have sought permits to change their street signal systems, Evans reported.

Lights must be affixed eight feet above the pavement on sidewalk pedestals with the color sequence of red, amber and green. Amber must be used only as a warning of the red "stop" signal. All lights must have a minimum visibility of 300 feet.

The act requires lights on main roads to clear the pavement by at least 15 feet to avoid interference with moving vehicles.

Evans said some communities still experience trouble in obtaining suitable equipment.

The uniform traffic light law was enacted in 1937 with a January 1, 1940, effective date. It was amended in 1939 to postpone its operation to January 1, 1942.

When the United States became embroiled in World War II and acquisition of the street light equipment difficult, the legislature suspended the effective date for the duration of the war and a year after the cessation of hostilities which was proclaimed by President Truman December 31, 1946.

Three notices of the requirement have been sent to all towns and cities with signal lights, Evans said.

Penalties for non-compliance are $100 fines or 10-day prison sentences for local officials found guilty of violating the law.

COLD WEATHER CHICKS SOLVE 1948 PROBLEMS

Lawrence county poultrymen can relieve a tight situation in 1948 by including some early or cold weather chicks in their plans for the year. These early chicks will distribute labor brooding and make better use of equipment. Their use also will avoid spring production surpluses and will supply more large and medium-sized eggs in the period of relative scarcity and highest market prices.

Another advantage will come through improved meat supply by marketing cockerels before the bulk of this type of poultry comes on the market and by having hens available for market between Thanksgiving and Easter when there is a real demand for this weight class of fowl.

Death losses will be reduced by eliminating the influence of disease organisms that operate best in warm, damp spring and early summer weather. Heavier early culling will come after the peak production of early-hatched pullets which lay heavily during the high priced period.

Growers interested in producing cold weather chicks can get a publication "Early Care of Chicks" by requesting it from the Agricultural Extension Association, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

SLAUGHTER HOGS IN TOP CONDITION

For the best quality pork, the butchering should be done when the hogs are gaining weight, and not after they start declining from peak condition.

Keeping them off feed 12 to 18 hours before slaughtering makes the dressing chores easier. Having the necessary equipment on hand and in working order helps speed the work.

A barrel or trough to do the scalding, scrapers for removing the bristles, and sharp knives to do the cutting are some of the essential tools. But the most important part of the butchering technique, experienced persons find, is the scalding.

The best water temperatures for scalding ranges from 147 to 150 degrees. Water of higher temperatures—170 to 200 degrees—may set the hair and necessitate shaving if the carcasses are given more than a quick shave.

The carcasses, once they have been hung up and dressed, need 24 to 48 for a good chill before cutting up for curing or for putting in freezer lockers. To facilitate the chilling, or removal of the animal heat, the kidney or loose fat, should be removed promptly.

Once the carcasses have cooled, the cutting can be done easier and to better advantage—a prime consideration, especially when meat is short in supply, and high in price.

GOOD FOOD BUILDS RESISTANCE TO COLDS

Although colds occur most often in winter, cold weather has nothing to do with causing a cold. It is when resistance is low and the body is tired that the cold germs can take hold. To keep up our resistance to colds and other diseases, we must be in good health. The food we eat is the basis of our health. In winter we need to be especially sure that our meals are well balanced.

Milk, eggs, liver, green and yellow vegetables, oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes, and raw cabbage all help to build up resistance to colds. These foods contain plenty of vitamin A and C, both important in warding off colds. All other vitamins are important, too, in protecting us from colds.

Three good meals a day, plus enough rest so the body has time to use the food to repair worn out tissues are the best safeguards against colds. Adults or children should never slight breakfast. A good hot morning meal is the very first step toward the building of good health.

It might be well to check your meals daily to be sure they contain the following for each member in the family: at least one serving of a green or yellow vegetable; one or more servings of tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, or raw cabbage; three or more servings of potatoes and other vegetables and fruits; one quart of milk for each child and a pint for each adult (milk may be used as beverage or in cooking); one serving of meat, fish, or poultry, and an egg a day for each person or at least four or five a week; two servings of whole grain or enriched bread and cereal; and butter or margarine with vitamin A added for each meal.

Further information on planning meals for health is given in a leaflet, "Feeding Your Family", a copy of which may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle. There is no charge.

Society Of Farm Women Opposed To Military Training

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women today opposed universal military training and peace-time rationing.

Farm wives at the State Farm Show also called for improved utility and other services in rural areas.

They urged single refuse dumping stations in small towns, prompt snow removal from state roads, installation of telephones in isolated country schools, continuance of hot lunch programs in schools and better road marking.

Urges Overseas Relief

Mrs. Peter Kreuger, of Annapolis, a relief worker for the Council of Churches, recommended generous support of overseas relief campaigns.

The society re-elected its president, Mrs. Richard C. Edwards, of Quarryville.

Mrs. H. J. Frysinger, of Harrisburg R. D. 1, was named secretary succeeding Mrs. Roy S. Forney, of Johnstown.

Other officers re-elected were vice presidents, Mrs. Ferd Bickle, Fayetteville and Mrs. Waldo Gohn, Johnstown; treasurer, Mrs. Ira Krall, Myerstown.

Costa Rica is about the same size as West Virginia.

Eugene Hassan Navy Enlistee

Eugene Kenneth Hassan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hassan, of 1414 Hamilton street, New Castle, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy for a period of three years.

Hassan has been transferred to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., for a twelve week recruit training period and upon completion of recruit training will return home on twelve days leave. He will then be transferred to a navy specialty school.

The standard length of railroad rails is 39 feet. A few years ago it was 33 feet; before that, 30 feet.

At least 19 persons at one time simultaneously claimed the title of Roman emperor.

The palm tree is so named because of a fancied resemblance of the leaves to the outspread hand. The name means "palm of the hand".

City Chemist Makes Report

Heess Outlines Work Done During 1947 In Report To Safety Director

J. K. Heess, city chemist, has delivered his report of 1947 inspections to Safety Director Richard I. Davis. In the report, Mr. Heess reports having made daily examinations of water used here and reports it was found safe for drinking at all times.

He reports that of 60 samples of drinking water taken from private wells and springs, the water in some cases was found unfit for drinking purposes.

Test Water In Pools
Mr. Heess reported the water in the two junior high school pools in which persons swim, was tested weekly and found safe, as was the water at Cascade Park and the Y. M. C. A. pools.

He reported that samples of milk sold by 23 dairies were tested for the number of bacteria present, the amount of butter fat and the completeness of pasteurization. "With few exceptions these dairies are doing a fairly good job," his report stated. He added that the amount of butter fat has been up to requirements, except in one dairy, and this was only temporary.

He explained that "several" of the dairies have not always been able to keep the bacteria amount low at all times. "This was especially true during hot weather," he added.

Mr. Heess also stated that "eight inspections of dairies were made during the year and recommendations made for improvement of sanitation. These inspections included bacteria tests on the water supply, milk cans, milk bottles and the raw milk supply."

Some Need Watching
Seven hundred and seven inspections were made at hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, lunch counters and bars. Seven hundred and thirty-six tests were made of utensils used therein. He said the tests showed a very remarkable improvement in sanitation.
On July 1, 1947, 98 per cent of the places were up to standard required. A second and third test were required at some places, Mr. Heess reported.

He reports that "most owners or managers were, yes, even glad to cooperate in this work. However, there were a few who do not seem to appreciate our help as they should. These will still need careful watching and frequent checking until such time as they 'get in line'."

MAZZAROONS

That is what old Uncle Mose calls mushrooms.

They are pretty good now and then. They seem to taste better if you pick them yourself.

It is fine to have a farmer friend who allows you to hunt for mushrooms.

They do not provide much nourishment but lots of enjoyment. They supply iron and copper and vitamins.

Some people like them with steak but it takes a lot of iron men to get the steak.

If they were as plentiful as potatoes perhaps people would not like them so well.

Some people are afraid to gather them for fear of being poisoned.

It seems that more people get poisoned from ivy than from mushrooms.

Kuter Proposal By Truman Rejected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)

The Senate Armed Services Committee turned thumbs down Tuesday on President Truman's proposal to make Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board without loss of his military pay.

Chairman Gurney (R) S. D., was instructed to advise the president that the committee does not approve the appointment of military personnel to civilian jobs.

Switzerland has about twice the area of Massachusetts. The density of population is about 25 times that of Colorado.

Today's Question About Campaign

(No. 3 in a series)

Q. Why should I contribute when I pay my hospital bills?

A. The money you pay as a patient covers only the actual cost of serving you. It does not provide for the steel and bricks used in the original building, or those needed to expand the hospital.

Only the public can provide for expansion of our voluntary hospitals. They are as dependent upon the people they serve as the people are upon them—only through your support can they increase their capacity to avoid turning you away when you need care.

When the first oil rush began in western Pennsylvania in 1859, the only way to get the oil out was in barrels carted over roads cut through the wilderness. Pipelines were the answer to the problem, and were first visualized by Jacob J. Vandergrift, a former steamboat captain.

It was 28 1/2 inches long. Claude Neifert of Tamaqua took a brown trout 18 1/2 inches long, and Irvin Turnball of Johnstown caught a rainbow, 23 inches long. Writing of small-mouth bass, Andy Sopko of Coaldale, took one 25 1/2 inches long, which weighed seven pounds and 12 ounces while Simon Erbe of Tamaqua caught a large-mouth, 32 1/2 inches in length which was scaled at seven pounds, 12 ounces. George Mohrner of Oil City, had the fight of his fishin' life to catch a muskie 30 inches long which weighed 32 pounds, eight ounces. Other good catches reported in the state were: Walleyed pike, Allen Butz, Allentown, 31 inches, 10 pounds, eight ounces; large-mouth bass, Joe Matrugger, Minersville, 22 1/2 inches; Earl Hagenbuch, East Greenville, 22 1/2 inches, six pounds, 14 ounces; and Virgil Snyder, two 21-inch, small-mouth bass, Arthur Francis, Oaks, 19 inches, and walleyed pike, Clyde Fox, Harrisburg, 28 inches, seven pounds. . . . Carcass of what appears to be a gray lobo wolf, long believed to be extinct, except for a few in captivity near Kane, is attracting attention at Warren, Pa. It was shot between the eyes by Deputy Game Protector Lyle Shafer in the Kinzua district. The kill is expected to end stories from the Kinzua and Corydon sections of a strange animal, resembling a wolf, observed by hunters and motorists for the past several months. . . . Seven thousand, eight hundred and five fish licenses were issued in 1946 in Lawrence County. Allegheny County issued 47,002, and the fewest issued were in Montour County, one. . . . Being that Wally Bowers intends to fish for pickerel in May, a tip is: Fish in the early morning and from late afternoon until sundown. . . . Cecil Suber has begun cleaning his fishing equipment, although trout season doesn't begin until April. After fishing at North Bay and Beverly Lake several years past, he intends to select a new place this summer. . . . Walter Ringer must have a cramp in his right wrist in the south, because he haven't received any letters telling of his catches. . . . President Herman Steinbrink of the LCSA says he intends to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward the state fish commission, instead of fighting the body. He believes this will result in better stocking in Lawrence County. . . . George Barrett, retired mail carrier, has all kinds of fishing gadgets. Several years ago he caught a big muskie in the Allegheny river.

Another who has some excellent trout flies, which he ties himself is George Stone of the Seventh ward. . . . Mike Fazzone, the fish and tackle man, was a city hall visitor yesterday. . . . Charlie Frenzel proposes to fish again in Trent river, Canada, next summer. He reports accommodations are good. . . . Herman Steinbrink, who was named assistant fire chief recently, is a confirmed fisherman. However, he claims he is "off" hunting because he was lost for several hours while duck hunting last fall. Asked if he was scared, he replied: "I sure was." . . . Fishermen are expected to have a good time. . . . Billy Malone, 150, of Lawrenceville, who won over Fred Orlosky, 152, of Woods Run, at Duquesne Gardens, Pittsburgh, Monday night, is the same Malone who knocked out Dave Dams with a punch to the side in the first round January 7, in The Arena. He appeared to be a clever boxer. . . . The navy is hunting for a civilian grid coach. . . . Globe Trotters Play Canton Here Tonight

New Castle basketball fans will be treated to one of the most outstanding attractions of the season at the spacious Arena floor tonight, when the Canton Cushites will battle the world famous Harlem Globe Trotters pro team. There will be a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock featuring Shenango "Y" and the Forest A. C. two city-county-league teams.

The Globe Trotters are rated tops in the Negro floor field, and have played to over two million fans in recent years. The Trotters have won 90 percent of their games, having a great passing and sensational dribbling team. This is the 15th season on the road for the Trotters. Nine tournaments have been won by the Globe Trotters in the best competition the country has to offer. For trick shots and rapid fire passing, the Harlem boys cannot be beat. They are also real clowns in the court, and so are the Cushites. It should be a very enjoyable evening.

It should be a real battle all the way tonight. The Canton Cushites have added strength in Marion Motley, the big 6 foot 3 inch 215 pound fullback of the Cleveland Browns football team, at center, and have signed Bob Daugherty of Los Angeles, Cal. former Buffalo Bison star at guard, and will give a good account of themselves. In addition Maurice Szink has Wee Willie Smith former Rens star, Art Grant, who was with the Trotters, Joe Grimes, and Ernie Parks former Ohio state star.

This will be the first time that the Canton team has faced a team here that will give them a real tussle. Fans have been clamoring for a game in which the Canton team would be extended and this will be it. If the Cushites win tonight they will know they have been in a struggle.

'Cares Lose To Aliquippa, 41 To 33

Suffer Second Section Defeat On Valley Court

Locals Fight Gamely Against Champs; Jan- cone-Spears Lead Attack

New Castle High basketball team met one of the most highly talked of quintets in tough Section Three at Aliquippa last night, losing to the Aliquippa High Indians 41 to 33, but not without putting up a courageous fight.

The Kenneth Webb cohorts were too tall and experienced for the Douglass men to cope with, the invaders, Valley County, getting but eight field goals. The defeat practically puts the New Castle entry out of the picture for title consideration, this being their second setback. You can't drop two games in Section Three and be in at the finish.

Zernich-Spears High
Pacing their respective teams in scoring was Zernich of the "Quips" and Don Spears for New Castle, with 15 and 11 points each. Jimmy Jancone of the Castles had 10 points to be third high man. Spears was the New Castle sparkplug last night.

Aliquippa took a two-to-one lead at 14 to 7 in the first period, and New Castle couldn't catch up after that. At the half-way mark it was 21 to 15. The "Quips" maintained their scoring attack in the third period to outscore New Castle, 12 to 10, for the stanza, and lead 33 to 24 as the session drew to a close, but New Castle lost the services of their star forward, Don Black, midway in the third quarter and that hurt the Douglass-coached machine.

Even-Final Period
It was an even game the final period, with both clubs scoring eight points, and that was the way it ended, with the Webbits in front by those same eight points, 41 to 33. Young Don Reed sparked the New Castle's in the final half with five points before being forced out when he talked back to the referee.

Aliquippa's vaunted attack failed to click against the New Castle's who were checking them away out on the court. It must be said for New Castle that they were trying last night, they played an aggressive game all the way, but lacked the necessary height and ability to cage field goals, although Jancone had three in the bucket that didn't count, fouls being called.

Rochester Here Friday
Aliquippa will get a real testing next Tuesday when they face the "Red-hot" Farrell club, the winner of this game may win Section Three.

New Castle will play Rochester at New Castle Friday in a non-league affair, while Aliquippa goes to Sharon and are expected to have an easy time.

New Castle's JV team lost to the Aliquippa JV team in the preliminary game, 44 to 23.

Non-scoring stars: New Castle—Pietrillo, Gray, Aliquippa—Frank, Bright, Danovich, Tomco, Klopovich.

Pouls: New Castle, 17 out of 25. Aliquippa, 13 out of 25.

New Wilmington ran into trouble in the Section 23 chase last night, dropping a 33-25 decision to Mt. Jackson. It was the first setback for the Greyhounds.

After a 7-7 first period, the 'Mounties' spurred to take a commanding 20-10 halftime edge and were in front 28-18 at the end of the third stanza.

Butler, with 14 points, stood out for the Webster boys.

Ezzard Charles Knocks Out Moore

Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati knocked out Archie Moore of Baltimore in the eighth round of a light-heavyweight fight last night in Cleveland. Moore, it will be recalled, seconded Elkins Brothers to his one-round TKO win over Jeff Clanton here January 7.

Brothers TKO Winner
Elkins Brothers, former sensational knockout artist, an amateur, at the Arena, and victor in his most recent pro fight here by a 45 seconds KO over Jeff Clanton, was the winner again last night at Cleveland in a prelim to the Charles-Moore fight, being awarded a TKO over Al Smith of Pittsburgh in the third round, when Smith being cut above the left eye.

Wampum Edges Union, 30 To 29

Wampum Has Close Call Tuesday Home Floor, Peterson Leads Scorers

Wampum High Indians had a close one to contend with last night, barely getting to the wire ahead of a scrappy Union High Quintet, 30 to 29, in a Section Three game. The game was played at Wampum.

The Coach Butler Henson team was forced to come from behind in the fourth period, trailing the third period 22 to 19, after the Wampum team had taken the lead at 5 to 4 the first period and found it an even ball game at 14-14 at halftime.

Union put up a great battle against the last year champions and looked like winners at various times. Peterson of Union led the scoring with 15 points, followed by Hedricks, with eight, and for Wampum Armario had eight to be high man.

Wampum won the preliminary game, 43 to 40.

County Sportsmen Install Officers

County Sportsman's Association Sets Membership Goal At 2,000

Installation of officers who will guide the Lawrence County Sportsman's association through 1948, occurred last night at the Court House.

The officers installed were: President, Herman Steinbrink; vice president, Joseph Crabbe; recording secretary, N. N. Jaquish; treasurer, Joe Roth; trustee, Henry Rodgers and directors, Andy Dadds and H. Price.

James Boyd, who was elected financial secretary in December, resigned, because he proposes to return to school.

Stocking Expanded
Following the installation wild life and fish were discussed by Game Protector Samuel Shade and Clinton White, respectively. They explained what stocking had been done.

Application of Claire E. Stitt to be a special fish warden, was approved by the organization. Motion pictures of wildlife were displayed by Trustee Henry Rodgers.

A goal of two thousand members this year was set by President Steinbrink.

Arrangements are also under way to stage a crow hunt.

Rebels Triumph Again In Loop

House League Leaders Beat Shamrocks; Redskins Defeat Wings

Last night, the House League first place leaders, the Rebels, bounced over the Shamrocks 49-30, to remain unbeaten at the "Y".

Dick Hamilton was the big gun for the Rebels with 16 points to his credit, while Bob Miller led the losing team with 13 points.

In the second game, the Redskins defeated the Wings in a thriller, 34-33. For the Redskins Sheridan received scoring honors, with 19 points, while Ferra dumped in 12 points to help out.

Interplant League Launched
Two games were played last night at the "Y" to open the interplant league consisting of different departments from the Shenango Pottery. The first game went to the Glass Ware team over the Handle Shop, 33-20. H. Pitzer led the Glass Ware with 9 points.

The second game went to the Bisque Ware over the White Ware by a forfeit.

Cementers Stay in Heated Race By Posting 44-34 Cage Triumph

In a game slowed by frequent fouls, Bessemer defeated Princeton last night to remain very much in the Section 23 chase.

The Ciccone lads had a 20-13 halftime bulge and maintained the gap down to the final buzzer.

Cus Anderson, even though he was derrick in the final period, led the victors with 9 points. Kenny Jones banked in 12 for the losers.

Friday night the Cementers face their toughest test—taking on the high-flying Shenango Wildcats.

Highway Deaths 148 Less Than In Year 1946

In the face of heavy increased traffic, Pennsylvania's motor vehicle fatality record for the year 1947 showed 148 deaths less than for the year 1946, Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris announced today in a statement as follows:

"During the year just ended there were 1,532 persons killed in traffic accidents, while the total for the year 1946 was 1,700. This saving of 148 lives was accomplished in the face of new high figures for highway travel. There was an increase of nine per cent in the consumption of gasoline in 1947, which made the greatest year for motor vehicle travel in the commonwealth's history.

"Pennsylvania's record, according to figures of the National Safety Council showing a general reduction in fatalities throughout the country, stands high in comparison to the records of other states. We are pleased by that low comparative record but still not proud of it. There should have been no loss of life and there would not have been had drivers and pedestrians exercised the proper care and judgment.

Safety Conscious Campaign
"Whatever success we enjoyed in lowering the fatality rate is attributed to the intensive statewide effort put forth co-operatively for the purpose of arousing safety consciousness. We found greater co-ordination from co-operating agencies, including government bodies, motor clubs, state and local police officials, school authorities, service clubs, the radio and particularly the newspapers of our state, who put on splendid campaigns in the interest of safety. In this effort to further conserve human life we must have the continued support and effort of all those whom I have mentioned, and a still greater determination on the part of the individual driver and walked to be safe. Obtaining that this year should, by far, surpass all other records we have made.

"While progress is being made all along the line to combat the greatest killer of all, we must realize that still greater effort will be necessary because the number of motor vehicles and travel on our highways will continue to increase."

Probe Death Of Woman In 1937
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Police said today they are investigating the death 11 years ago of another woman tenant befriended by Fred Dresel, building superintendent, charged with forging the $281,000 will of the late Mathilde Molsberger.

Authorities said the death of Gertrude Snook in 1936 brought about Dresel's first dealings with Fred Lasch, the mortician who handled the funeral and who is now held with Dresel in the Molsberger case.

Body Exhumed
Miss Snook's body was cremated. Police said they were anxious to determine whether Dresel benefitted from her death. The body of Miss Molsberger, 61-year-old spinster, who died last June, was exhumed recently and revealed a lethal quantity of barbiturates, according to police. Under Miss Molsberger's will, which police said was forged, Dresel inherited the bulk of her estate.

Firemen Delegates To Sleep In Tents

ROME, N. Y., Jan. 14.—(INS)—New York state volunteer firemen have worked out a plan to beat the housing shortage when they meet in Rome, N. Y., next August for their annual convention.

The convention committee decided last night to house the visitors in circus tents.

Syracuse informed the Rome committee it will bring along its own dining and sleeping tent.
